

RED CARDS & PLAYER FINES

A player who receives a red card will:

- Have their player ID card retained by the referee
- Be automatically suspended for a period determined in the CDSFA Judiciary Disciplinary & Appeals Regulations
- Be struck off all match sheets until the suspension is completed
- Be required to pay $60 to collect their player ID card from Ashfield Park upon completion of their suspension

Depending on the nature of the offence, a suspension longer than the minimum sanction may be imposed. The sanctions for playing while suspended are severe for player, team and club.

If a player wishes to make an appearance regarding a decision made by the CDSFA Judiciary Panel, the request to do so must be submitted to the club by midday on the Friday following the communication of the original judiciary decision together with a fee of $50. Requests must be supported by written statements from the player and, if appropriate, team members and other witnesses. Players have the right to request a copy of the referee's report.

APPEALS TO CDSFA

Players, managers and coaches should familiarise themselves with the appeals process and costs as laid out in the CDSFA Judiciary Disciplinary & Appeal Regulations. All costs will be borne by the appellant and will only be reimbursed if (a) the appeal is successful and (b) to the extent that the club itself is reimbursed by CDSFA.

Suspensions cannot be appealed if the CDSFA Disciplinary Panel imposes the minimum sanction for the offence committed unless the player can provide evidence that he or she did not commit the offence. One match suspension cannot be appealed.
